ServiceLink Names Vinod Thomas as SVP Default Strategy

Pittsburgh, PA, Nov 15, 2010 – ServiceLink, a leading end-to-end origination and default solutions provider for fifteen of the top twenty mortgage lenders and servicers, has named Vinod Thomas Senior Vice President, Default Strategy and Execution. He will be responsible for overseeing new product development, expansion and integration of services across the entire default division.

Mr. Thomas joins ServiceLink with over 20 years experience in the real estate mortgage and banking industry with specific focus on the servicing of defaulted mortgage loans. Most recently he served as Chief Operating Officer for LandAmerica Default Services where he oversaw tremendous revenue and organizational growth. Mr. Thomas has held varying management positions in collections, loss mitigation, foreclosure and bankruptcy at top mortgage servicers including Bank of America, Home Savings of America, and Washington Mutual.

“We are excited to welcome Vinod and know ServiceLink will benefit from his experience as we continue to manage swift expansion within our default division,” said Jeff Coury, president & chief executive officer. “Our rapid growth is attributed not only to the changing market, but also to the acquisition of Commerce Velocity technology and expansion of our component loss mitigation unit which processes loan modifications (HAMP), Short Sale, and Deed in Lieu.”

“As we continue to grow our default operations, add new products and services, and enhance our technology to a complete enterprise-wide solution, it is important that we properly integrate all of the components to ensure we are bringing the highest value to the servicer and investor,” said Coury. “Vinod’s mortgage servicing experience and operational expertise will help us obtain this goal.”
